Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Glendale Talent to Be in Limelight of the Exposition

JULY 19TH has been designated as Glendale Day at the Motion Picture Exposition and Monroe Doctrine Centennial which is being held at Exposition Park.

The Chamber of Commerce committee, of which Ralph W. Browne is chairman, has arranged an excellent program. The entire program will be presented by local talent.

Glendale has long been noted for the musical ability of a great many of our citizens, and those taking part in this celebration will without doubt further this reputation.

* * *

THE program will be presented between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock and will consist of the following numbers:

A vocal solo by Mayor Spencer Robinson.

Dancers from the Pearl Keller School of Dancing and Dramatic Art will present several numbers. In these numbers the Turner sisters, Eleanor Marek and Marie Louise Brown will be featured.

A double quartet composed of members of the Madrigal club will sing the "Lost Chord." Mesdames Freeman, Cote, Barker, Chappell, Draper, Meadows, Cotton and McMullin compose the vocalists for this number.

A dance number will be presented by George Larkin and Allie Kirby. George Larkin, the popular motion picture star, with Allie Kirby will present "L' Argentine Tango," an original creation.

Eva Kurtz Ghrist, pianist of extensive accomplishments; J. Arthur Myers, well known tenor, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Edward Cavanah of the Cavanah studio will furnish additional attractions.

A one-act drama presented by Dr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Chase and Mrs. Malvern Barker, entitled, "Finders, Keepers."

THE liquor enforcement problem still holds the platform with its ability to develop perplexing situations day by day.

An entirely new complication has reached the U. S. supreme court from California. It involves the problem of whether states can prohibit druggists from filling physicians' prescriptions which call for the quantity of medicinal liquor allowed by Federal law.

* * *

WHILE Federal courts in New York and Montana have been wrestling with the question of restricting the quantity of liquor a physician may prescribe, the courts of California have sustained an ordinance of Los Angeles limiting the quantity which druggists may dispense upon any prescription to eight liquid ounces. That is half the amount which the Federal government has made the minimum.

A druggist of Los Angeles has asked the supreme court to review his conviction for violating the ordinance which he contended was enacted prior to adoption of the 18th amendment and was nullified when congress passed the prohibition enforcement law. He declared his position as a druggist was untenable when physicians were permitted to issue prescriptions calling for one pint of intoxicating liquor, and he was restricted by the city ordinance to dispensing one-half the quantity the prescriptions called for.

* * *

WE must expect these troublesome complications to arise so long as the desire for liquor is abroad in the land. It will take at least a generation to effectively stamp out all this desire. Eventually this will come to pass. Until it does we must use all possible diligence in enforcing the laws.

If citizens who are law-abiding, with the exception of obeying the mandate of the 18th amendment, would accept the inevitable the law enforcement officers would have no trouble in stamping out the traffic.

The purchase and use of liquor by our influential citizens makes the enforcement task doubly hard.

* * *

THE habitual user of liquor is easy to locate, but the other kind is the real one who is supporting the industry. He is able to pay the price which has made the traffic a paying one, even if it is dangerous to follow.

* * *

EVERY loyal citizen in our land should support the constitution of the United States to the letter; those who do not, are party to treason to their country.

This is a broad statement but essentially true, and should receive careful thought of all.

C. OF C. GETS REPORT UPON U. S. BUILDING

Assistant Postmaster Hallett Tells of the Government's Plans

COST IS TOO HIGH

Glendale Day at the Exposition Is Set for July Nineteenth

At the meeting of the directorate of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday evening Assistant Postmaster Hallett, who was sent to the convention of post office employees at San Francisco as the special representative of the chamber, made a fine report in which he spoke at some length relative to a federal building for Glendale. He quoted statements made by ex-Governor and First Assistant General Bartlett that it is the policy of the government not to build federal buildings at this time because of the high cost of labor and material, it being the feeling that it would be unfair to add to the burdens of tax payers who are compelled to pay these prices for their own private buildings. Therefore, there will be no post offices erected on the Pacific Coast except Oakland, where such a building is an absolute necessity, and at the Ferry in San Francisco.

Mr. Hallett expressed the opinion that in the long run delay would be to the advantage of Glendale because a building the department might provide now would probably be too small to meet the future needs of a city expanding as rapidly as is this one.

Announcement was made of the complimentary dinner to new chamber members secured during the recent drive, which will be given the evening of July 20 at 6:30.

A letter was read from Richmond P. Hobson, secretary of the International Narcotic Association extending an invitation through the chamber for Glendale to take part in the parade that will be held in Los Angeles the afternoon of July 21. The effort will be to get as many children as possible in the parade which will end at the Monroe Exposition where a program will be given by such speakers as William G. McAdoo, Senator Frank Flint, Harry Chandler and Aimee McPherson on the narcotic evil.

Chamber directors decided that in view of the fact that Glendale is to have a special day at the exposition July 19, it could not officially take part in the parade, but that it would urge Glendalians to take their children to the program mentioned.

Ralph Brown, chairman of the committee to provide a program for Glendale day at the exposition, reported a fine program of local talent secured, and urged that an effort be made to secure the attendance of Glendalians in large numbers.

In connection with the report of Secretary Sanders relative to the meeting at Long Beach where the president's itinerary was outlined, the matter of decorating Glendale streets in an appropriate way on August 3 was taken up and methods of raising funds discussed. Committees were appointed to solicit the city council and the Credit Men's association. The hope was expressed by the Long Beach committee that the entire line of march can be decorated in an elaborate manner in all the towns traversed so that the president will carry away the impression that Los Angeles county knows how to receive its honored guests.

A number of sealed bids for the booklet were received and turned over to the advertising committee. Individual contributions were made by directors to defray the expenses of Glendale's National Guard companies at the encampment at Salinas.

HARDING PROGRAM IS UNCHANGED IN GLENDALE PLANS

To Pass Through City on August Third as Announced

Secretary Sanders of the Chamber of Commerce and a member of the committee which is planning to welcome President Harding when he passes through this city on his way to Pasadena, says there has been no change in his itinerary so far as Glendale is concerned, but his stay in Santa Ana with his sister has been extended. The original schedule under which he was to reach Glendale the morning of the 3rd of August at 11 o'clock still stands, according to Mr. Sanders.

His coming is to be heralded by the "Sammy Sisters," Misses Lorraine and Alberta Davis, and the Dixie Packard company is furnishing the auto in which they will ride.

TUESDAY CLUB NEEDS YOUR AUTO

To Be Used to Bring the Disabled Veterans Here

FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Entertainment Is to Be Given by the Club Members

"Mysterious" Emerson, who gave an interesting program of magic tricks, etc., recently at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium, has been secured to appear again on the afternoon of Friday, July 13, when the club will be hostess to the disabled World War Veterans from the Sawtelle home and Glendale. Mrs. C. H. Pendleton will accompany Mr. Emerson at the piano and there will also be a violinist and drums. After the program a social hour will be held, during which refreshments will be served.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, general chairman in charge of arrangements for the program, states that a small charge of 25 cents for club members and their friends and 15 cents for children will be made to cover the expenses of the afternoon. She is desirous of securing volunteers to offer their automobiles to transport the boys to and from Sawtelle. It is anticipated that there will be about 150 coming from Sawtelle. Those having automobiles are asked to get in touch with Mrs. A. A. Barton at Glen. 2958, or be at the clubhouse on Friday at 12 o'clock.

WEST SIDERS OUT FOR AIRPORT IN GRIFFITH PARK

What the regular July meeting of the West Glendale Improvement association lacked in number, Tuesday night, it made up in enthusiasm. The meeting was opened by the president, and resolved into a meeting as a whole.

A resolution was then presented concerning the suitability and adaptability of a certain four hundred acres lying within the limits of Griffith park for an airport. A movement was made and seconded to the effect:

That the city council of Glendale use its best endeavors to induce Los Angeles to set aside and improve this tract as a municipal and national airport. Also that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the city councils of Glendale and of Los Angeles, the chambers of commerce of Glendale and all San Fernando cities, to the "Ace" magazine and both newspapers. The resolution was carried unanimously.

The project of acquiring the block of ground on the south side of Gardena avenue, from Eulalia to Brand for Park purposes in conjunction with the new Southern Pacific depot, was discussed.

A mass meeting to devise ways and means to further the project was resolved upon.

It was the general opinion that Glendale plan and build "today for a greater Glendale "tomorrow."

The meeting was concluded with a discussion of the advantages to be derived from the opening and widening of Burchett street, but no action was taken.

Y. M. C. A. IS HOME WITH LIVE GOATS

Capture Animals on the Mountain Top on Catalina Island Hike

CAMP AWARDS MADE

Boys Put Through Long Recreational Program in Outing

Crates containing live goats captured at the top of Mt. Black Jack, were among the luggage brought back last night by the 153 Y. M. C. A. boys of the Glendale district, including Glendale, Burbank, Eagle Rock and Annandale, after an eleven days' vacation outing at Camp Shaw, Catalina Island.

According to Rex C. Kelly, local Y. M. C. A. secretary, the boys returned to Glendale last night at 8 o'clock in a special three-car train and were met at Brand and Broadway by a large delegation of parents and friends.

Camp awards were made to about fifty "Four-Square Boys" who had qualified in the different activities of the camp. Dr. "Jack" Anderson of Glendale, who was at the camp over the week-end, brought a beautiful silver loving cup to be presented each year to the boy who was judged the best all-around boy and showed the best camp spirit. The cup is to have the boy's name engraved on it and remain in his possession until the next year's camp. The cup was awarded to William Ballsom, the only Los Angeles boy in the camp. The second and third prizes, which are to be donated by Mr. Kuranaga of the Japan Art and Tea company of Glendale, will be awarded to Donald Weyand of Glendale and Gordon Bailey of Burbank.

Yesterday morning the glass bottom boat called at the camp at 11 o'clock, loaded on the baggage and took the boys to view the marine gardens. The last day in camp was given over to the acquatic meet of various swimming events and boat races. For the boat races the camp was divided into two teams, one captained by G. E. Murphy and the other by F. J. Gasser. The single sculls for boys was won by Gasser's team, as was also the single sculls for leaders. G. E. Murphy's team won the two-oared sculls for boys. For the acquatic meet the winners were: Owen Dressler of Annandale, first; Gordon Bailey of Burbank, second; Grant Goodwin of Glendale, third; Norman Skeet and Roland Skeet of Burbank, tied for fourth; Leland Gasser of Glendale, fifth.

In the camp was a society which has become quite popular throughout the camps in the state of California, known as "The Rag Society." The members are picked by a secret committee as being boys who have shown the best camp spirit. The first degree is the "blue rag." The ceremonies in connection with the degree were held at the top of a cliff overlooking the ocean. This society was made by Vernon Foster, Donald Weyand, Donald Elliott, Gerald Osier, Jack Swearingon, Willard Ball and Harold Rhoades of Glendale; Shirley Olympius and Gordon Bailey of Burbank; Ray Johnson of Annandale and William Ballsom of Los Angeles. The "red flag," which is the third or next to the highest degree, was given to Paul Edmonds, G. E. Murphy, Dr. J. Anderson, Rev. E. E. Ford, F. B. Mattice and Dr. A. D. Smith.

One of the features of the camp was the circus staged on visitors' day, held last Friday. Each of the seventeen tents in the camp was responsible for some stunt. Among the outstanding novelties was the "Spark Plug" number, put on by Elwood Ingledue's tent, with Jack Swearingon dressed as Barney Google. Prof. Root's tent put on a very unique "King Tut" novelty. Another fgeature was ahetaoinhrd Another feature was the Queen of Sheba stunt put on by O. C. Walton's group, with Walter Roberts as the Queen. There was a band, trained bears, a wild man, impersonated by John Elliott, snake charmer and other very clever features.

A number of the boys of the camp hiked to the top of Mt. Black Jack and caught a number of live goats by running them down and cornering them. Right then and there they decided to make pets of them and brought them home in crates.

Mr. Kelley states that the Hi-Y camp for all the high schools in Southern California will be held at the Island from September 1 to 8. The quota for the Glendale district Hi-Y boys for that camp will be ten.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Robert Mosier, 611 East Acacia avenue, was struck at about 8:30 o'clock by a machine operated by Henry Hobbs, 131 North Adams street, according to Glendale police records. He was given first aid at Thornycroft sanitarium, after which he was taken to his home.

FOOTHILL FOLKS FOR NEW PARK

Discuss Various Improvements in the Northwest Section

WANT ROAD SIGNED

Oppose East of Brand Federal Building if Obtained

Needed improvements the city over, but especially in the northwest, occupied the attention of the Foothill Improvement Association at its meeting Tuesday evening in the Grand View school, conducted by President Alexander Mitchell.

There was discussion relative to bridges over the wash at Pacific and Central avenues, the proposed Southern Pacific depot and park in the southern section of the city, additional lights on Western avenue, the opening of Fourth street from Burbank to Brand boulevard, paralleling the P. E. tracks, the lowering of the P. E. to the street grade and the rounding off of corner to the 15-foot radius at Glenwood road and Grand View, this being a very dangerous turn because of the curve in Glenwood road and the cypress hedge at Grand View Memorial Park.

The association went on record as favoring a park to face the new Southern Pacific depot, the secretary being instructed to write the secretary of the chamber of commerce for further information concerning the site of the depot and park. It was argued that the impression received by strangers who pass through Glendale by rail should be made as pleasant as possible.

The proposed new electric signs to advertise Glendale on San Fernando road were also referred to. It was pointed out that Glendale extends from Alameda avenue on the north to Oxford on the south or approximately five miles along the state highway. It was the sense of the meeting that an electric sign should mark entrance to the city on the north and that the present sign at Broadway should be changed to read: "Broadway, Glendale," also indicating that the business center is five blocks east. This, it was declared, would give strangers entering Glendale a better idea of where the business center is located and of the size of the city.

Great satisfaction was expressed over mail delivery from the Glendale office and interest in the possibility that a federal building might be provided for Glendale, the members registering objection, however, to its location any great distance east of Brand boulevard.

There was also discussion of the advisability of more land purchases by the board of education as a precautionary measure, for a grammar school in the northwest say about a mile west of Grand View, where the land is being subdivided so rapidly that it will soon be gone.

It was a meeting which had been postponed because the regular date fell on the evening before the Fourth of July. The attendance was therefore not as large as usual.

CITY MANAGER IS HEARD BY THE GRAND JURY

Election Probe Is Continued Until Tuesday Next

City Manager Reeves of Glendale was a witness for two hours yesterday afternoon before the county grand jury investigating the annexation election of the Lake street district to Glendale last December 22.

The investigation has occupied some of the jury's attention during the past three sessions, and was continued yesterday until next Tuesday.

The election, which resulted in approval of annexation, was declared null and void by a Superior Court judge after an investigation by the Attorney General. The grand jury is studying charges that twenty-five persons were persuaded to move into the district and live in tent houses before the election, receiving a stipend for their vote in favor of annexation.

SNEAK THIEF STEALS PHYSICIAN'S INSTRUMENTS

Guests Include Families of Employes and Many Nurses

WORKMEN IN CHARGE

Nail Driving Contest Is Held Amid Much Merriment

About five hundred people, including families of employees, nurses and those attending the summer institute of nurses, were present at the first entertainment given last night at the new Glendale Sanitarium building. Arrangements were in charge of a committee of workmen, including A. E. P. Billington, C. E. Swartsfager and Ed Miller. The entertainment was held in the large kitchen.

The program arranged for the evening included the following: Selection by Sanitarium band, "Sweet and Low"; talk on "Friendship," by W. E. Whalin; mandolin solo by C. A. Bergman, "Over the Waves"; song by Mrs. J. D. Knotts, "My Wild Irish Rose"; vocal solo by Miss Anna Margaret Whalin, "Marchita"; talk by C. E. Kimlin on "The Purpose of the Glendale Sanitarium," in which he brought out the thought that the sanitarium has a two-fold purpose in administering to the soul as well as the body; pianologue by E. Miller, "Out Where the West Begins"; vocal duet by Mrs. E. Whalin and Mrs. Billington; violin solo by Rae Frisbie, "Intermezzo from Cavallera Rusticana"; negro melodies by a colored male quartet, Messrs. Robinson, Matthews, Payne and Echols; trio by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Swartsfager and Mr. Moore, "Hungarian Dance" and "Swing Song"; song by A. E. P. Billington, "The Old Refrain"; talk on "The Modern Nurse" by Miss Kathryn Jensen, director of the summer institute for nurses being held at the sanitarium; piano solo by Miss Marvis Smith; "Il Trovatore"; selection by Sanitarium band, "Three O'Clock in the Morning."

A feature of the evening's program was a nail driving contest with five of the sanitarium nurses as the contestants. This was won by Miss Cobban, who was awarded a box of chocolates. During the evening short talks were given by Alfred Priest, architect, and Dr. W. A. Truman of Washington, D. C., medical secretary of the general conference of Seventh Day Adventists. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch served.

MAY & HELLMAN RELIEVED OF CONTRACT

Find Mistake in Figuring on the New School Buildings

At the meeting of the Glendale board of education held Tuesday evening with all members present, one of the most important matters on which action was taken was the request of May & Hellman to be relieved from the execution of a contract for the construction of the Pacific avenue school building under the bid of $29,843, on which they received the award at the previous meeting of the board, and on which they had filed a bond of $1500. They stated that owing to an error in their computations they would lose considerable money if they were forced to carry out the contract.

The board voted to release them from the award but to hold the bond for further consideration and advice from the county counsel's office. The award was then transferred to the next lowest bidder, George W. Campbell, on a bid of $33,936.

The question of leasing the present high school plant for the coming year was then raised and the board was a unit in the opinion that it would not be advisable to disorganize the present grammar school system for what might be but one year's use of the buildings.

Superintendent White was authorized to ask the high school trustees on what terms they would turn over to the board three of the classroom bungalows, two of which could be moved to the Wilson avenue grounds and one to Colorado's campus to relieve congestion in both places. As the carrying out of such a plan would seriously cut into the playgrounds at Wilson, Mr. White was further instructed to see if the high school grounds, gymnasiums and lockers could be secured for athletic work by Wilson avenue students after school.

The board accepted and approved the superintendent's final report on the condition of Glendale schools, which will be filed with the county superintendent.

Mr. White reported that papers in connection with the Pelanconi purchase are in escrow and the board executed a warrant for the purchase of 9.67 acres at $3250 per acre, or $31,434.

Mr. White was also authorized to advertise for bids for school furniture and equipment for new buildings, the bids to be opened July 31.

President Hibben was requested to investigate further in regard to the purchase of a strip of land adjoining the Magnolia avenue school campus.

A communication was read from the board of supervisors enclosing a letter from the road commissioner, stating that 5-foot sidewalks would be provided on both sides of the bridge across the wash at Central avenue for the use of pedestrians and as a measure of safety for children on their way to school.

The annual report of school nurse was filed and accepted.

The renting of additional space in the McElroy building for office use was authorized by the board. This will give it three instead of two office rooms.

LEGION DEFAULTS THE POSTOFFICE MATCH

The game scheduled to be played Tuesday evening between the American Legion team ond Postoffice employees, was not played, the Legion defaulting.

The game, which was scheduled to be played Friday night on Moyse Field under Community Service, will be played tonight by the First Methodist team and Newton Electric men.

ERWIN JOHNSON IS CHARGED WITH LARCENY

Burbank Man Arrested in Glendale for Alleged Theft of Revolver

Erwin Johnson of Burbank was arrested by Detectives Royle and Blake at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the charge against him being grand larceny, according to Chief of Police Fraser. It is claimed that Johnson stole a 32-caliber Colts automatic revolver from the Wilson-Bell Hardware company of North Brand. It is also claimed, according to Chief Fraser, that Johnson is wanted in Santa Barbara in connection with the theft of a motorcycle.

DE MOLAY MARKS FIRST BIRTHDAY

Detailed Plans Include Banquet and Big Reception

HAS 100 MEMBERS

Organization Is Sponsored by the Local Masonic Units

Local DeMolays are preparing for the first birthday celebration of Glendale chapter to be held July 23 in the Masonic Temple.

Although detailed plans have not yet been announced it has been decided that the affair will take the form of a program held in the upper lodge room of the temple, preceded by a banquet in the lower hall.

This event will not be limited to De Molays and Master Masons, but will be open to the families and friends of the members. Arrangements are being made to procure the best of music and speakers for the event.

Glendale chapter, Order of De Molay, was instituted on July 20, 1922, at the local Masonic Temple by Hollywood Chapter. A total of fifty charter members were received when the chapter officially organized. The chapter now has a membership of over one hundred, and is growing each month. In addition to the ritualistic work of the order several social affairs have been held, all of them highly successful.

On July 31 the chapter will journey to Van Nuys where it will present the degrees before the Masons of that city, who are desirous of starting a chapter.

Glendale chapter is sponsored by Unity Chapter, No. 116, Royal Arch Masons, and supervised in an advisory capacity by an advisory council of the Masonic bodies of Glendale, of which Ira R. Vance, Past High Priest, Unity Chapter, is chairman. Paul O. Morgan is Master Councilor of the chapter, having been installed on July 5.

MUSIC CLUB ANNOUNCES ITS PLANS

Cecil Fanning to Be the Soloist at First Concert

SET FOR OCTOBER 9

Rapid Increase of Membership Is Expected in Fall

With the announcement that the board of directors have chosen Cecil Fanning, noted American baritone, as the artist for the first concert of the fall season, the members of the Glendale Music Club will have an idea of the wonderful season of music being planned by the executives of the organization.

At the meeting of the members of the board, held Tuesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, it was stated that they had secured Mr. Fanning for the opening concert, that will take place the second Friday in October in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse. Those who have heard Mr. Fanning declare that in addition to a baritone voice of flawless beauty he has perfect enunciation. H. B. Turpin will preside at the piano during the concert.

Members of the board are anticipating a rush for membership tickets following this announcement. Seats in the auditorium are being reserved for the season as the merbership dues comes in.

The officers of the Glendale Music club are particularly anxious to secure $2000 in membership fees before the beginning of the club year. This will insure of an amount necessary in order to secure the artists desired, who will be difficult to obtain later in the season and at a much higher rate.

There will be no guest tickets included with the regular club memberships this year. The fee for new members will be $5 for the season. Those already members of the club may renew their memberships at $4. Patron memberships at $10 will entitle the holder to two season tickets. The fees are payable in advance, as the board does not desire to sign up the artists until after the money is in the treasury.

Mrs. J. O. Marsh, who had secured 30 members as against the 31 for which Mrs. Eva Cunningham was awarded the silver trophy at the annual club banquet recently, was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers at the meeting yesterday on behalf of the executive board of the music club.

Mrs. Warren Roberts, treasurer, announced the following patron members since the last list was published: Mrs. E. W. Kinney, Mrs. Eva Cunningham, Mrs. Eleanor Badour, Mrs. F. H. Wallace, Mrs. Freeman Kelly, Mrs. Ray Wolcott, Mrs. Mabel A. Smith, Miss Marie Larkey, Mrs. Fred C. Merrick, Mrs. Adolph Englehart, Miss Bee Helmer and Mrs. Charles Marshall.

A letter was read by Mrs. Jones from Catharina A. Bamman, manager for such prominent artists as Alice Gentle, Olga Steeb, Lucy Gates, etc., in which she brought out the fact that in making calculations to ascertain the percentage of foreign artists that were engaged by the various music clubs as against American born artists of the same artistic status the proportion was 6 to 1. She urged the recognition of American artists and composers.

The Glendale Music club stands for the best advancement of American music and on its programs either has an American artist appearing or at least one American composition included.

The leaders in the membership campaign joined the executive board and a list of prospects for membership was read and names assigned. At the close of the business session tea was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Those present included Mrs. Dora Gibson, Mrs. Frank Arnold, Miss Myrtle Pulliam, Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mrs. Percy Priaulx, Mrs. Alex Mitchell, Mrs. Eva Cunningham, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, Mrs. C. L. Marlenee, Mrs. E. W. Kinney, Mrs. Frankie Webb, Mrs. Ed Cleophas, Mrs. C. L. Peckham, Mrs. J. O. Marsh, Miss Lorraine Mitchell, Mrs. Helen Sawyer, Mrs. L. G. Sherman, Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Colin Cable, Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. F. H. Wallace, Mrs. Charles A. Parker, Miss Corinne Orff and the hostess.

SAN FERNANDO BOULEVARD

I believed when I told an investor to whom I sold a lot on San Fernando Blvd. between Magnolia and Palmer that this lot would double within a year. He purchased this for $2000. It sold last week—eight months later—for $5000.

The N. E. corner of San Fernando and Windsor sold three years ago for $1400. It sold last week for $20,000. The new owner's price is $30,000. This had improvements put on it amounting to $7500, which are of no value to the lot and will have to be moved off.

The S. E. corner of San Fernando Blvd. and Wilson Ave. sold in May, 1922, for $3750. In June, 1923, for $11,880.

Now is the time to invest in Business and Industrial Frontage.

'ROBIN HOOD' IS A DELIGHT TO THE BIG AUDIENCE

Glendale Theater Is Filled Yesterday Afternoon and Night

"Robin Hood" and his merry men entertained a capacity house yesterday afternoon at the Glendale theatre, when it seemed every school boy and girl who could get there, arrived at 2:30.

The outlaw of the Sherwood forest was again met by a big audience last night, in spite of the fact that the perforance ran 14 weeks in Los Angeles before Glendale was given a chance to view the great film. For it is a great film, not only in the accessories but in its wealth of historical presentation and in its life-like action.

It was a question whether Robin Hood, the actor, was playing Douglas Fairbanks, or Fairbanks playing Robin Hood, so thoroughly have their personalities blended. His company, even to the hundreds of auxiliary characters, are real living middle-age humans. To properly study the film it would be well to visit and revisit the Glendale theatre for that intimate delight in exquisite bits of work.

"Thus far the audience has been appreciative," said Mr. Howe, last night, "but of course it requires a capacity house every night of the run here to break about even on the film. This, you know, is perhaps the most expensive film ever brought to Glendale. It is a matter of pride with us to present it to our friends."

The film will have its last presentation on Friday evening. The matinee performances are perhaps the best for the young folks and for those who like to be home in the evening, although in the audience last night were rows and rows of children, who hung with breathless interest on the daring outlaw in his career of rebellion against King John, in the days of the Crusade.

Everyone of us, at one time or another, has allowed his thoughts to drift back "to the days of old when knights were bold" and have let the imagination run riot in seeking to picture those olden times. And always in our dreams there was the picturesque castle where the bold knights and their ladies lived and breathed a life of romance.

That dream castle became a reality when Douglas Fairbanks undertook to make the production, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood." The first thing he wanted in that picture was just such a castle, so that we of the Twentieth Century might be transported back 800 years to the days of chivalry where bold knights fought for their lady loves.

To Irvin J. Martin, who is responsible for the designs of the atmospheric setting and effects for "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," must go the credit for this picturesque old castle that covered two and one-half acres of the great Pickford-Fairbanks studios grounds.

It is hard to describe adequately this dignified old fortress of King Richard's — "Richard the Lionhearted"—standing high on Castle Hill with its huge towers and forbidding walls frowning down on the picturesque old town of Nottingham. In the foreground is the outer bailey or esplanade, fortified, and containing a chapel, stables and other buildings. The outer entrance to this is formed by a barbican or antemural, then comes the moat, which is fifty feet broad. The gate to the castle is approached by a large drawbridge, is defended by two guard rooms and has a double portcullis within, giving entrance to vaulted guard-rooms with sleeping apartments, tables and courtyard.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW THURSDAY NIGHT AT THE T. D. & L.

The weekly vaudeville comes tomorrow night to the T. D. & L. theater with a wide variety of entertainment. Back of the vaudeville is the presentation of the "Midnight Patrol," a story taken from police records, full of vivid activity. It will be shown Thursday night only. The vaudeville bill follows:

The popular big time Orpheum Sylvester Family, six members. This is the feature act advertised for last week but, due to a motor accident, they were unable to fill the engagement. The next number, Florence Earl, Tivoli and La Varre, by courtesy of Pantages Circuit in "A Classy Little Couple." Sherman and Pierce, a clever comedy couple. Hooker and Davis. Eva Du Val.

The Midnight Patrol which opens Thursday night at the T. D. & L. theater for one day's engagement, is not only thrilling but convincing and how could it be anything else when the story is actually taken from the Police Headquarters' records?

The girl he loves, Patsy O'Connel, is kidnaped by the drug smugglers and concealed in the opium den of Wu Fang. Word is sent to Terrence that if he will leave the smugglers unmolested, Patsy will be released unharmed, but if he interferes with them in any way she will be tortured frightfully.

Disguised as a Chinaman Terrence penetrates to the heart of Wu Fang's lair. He succeeds in saving another white girl before he is overpowered. Fortunately he has left word of his plan at headquarters, and when he fails to appear, his comrades raid Wu Fang's den and save Terrence and Patsy Terrencge tells Patsy of his love and is delighted to find that she reciprocates.

GLENDALE AND LANKERSHIM PLAY AGAIN

Last Sunday's Game Is Ruled Out by the Managers of Clubs

Last Sunday's game with Lankershim was ruled out by the Managers' Association and must be played over again. Due to Lankershim using an ineligible pitcher this action was taken. This protested game will take place on the home grounds at Park avenue and San Fernando road, July 22—one week from Sunday. This gives Glendale another chance for the pennant.

Next Sunday on the home diamond Glendale plays an independent game. The opponent has not been selected as yet but will be published later in the week. Manager Walt says it will be a good one as all the top notch clubs are scrambling for a Glendale game.

A SAVAGE TIRE "AD"—WITH COMMENTS — No. 8 OF A SERIES

Why do we advertise? Well, there's one good reason, and that is—though we are sorry to be able to admit it—because a considerable number of people have never tried Savage Tires. We're not advertising to the folks who have used our products, because most of them are Satisfied Customers and they're pretty certain to buy again. It's to the motorists who have never used our products that we are talking. We want them to know what we have. It isn't enough that we make a good product—more people should know we're making it. They will hear of it eventually, no doubt, but meanwhile it would be nice for them and for us if they could have the benefit of our efforts.
Royal B. Lee, Advertising Manager.

An exclamation has good attention value.

This is a "breezy" illustration—in keeping with the ad as a whole. Our Indian character and the step-down section of our tire, in the foreground, emphasize the constructional features that make our tire dependable. This, along with the rest of the scene, lends "atmospheric support" to the remarks we make about "Next Sunday".

NEXT SUNDAY

You and a million other motorists are going to put on your outing togs, get into that automobile of yours and answer The Call of the Open Road. You're going to the mountains, to the beach, out into the country, to the city or wherever the road leads—to some place that's different—for a change.

O, the joy of it! Skimming along the highway, breathing an air that's different! The gas tank is full, the old engine purrs smoothly along, your tires are dependable and life is great.

You'll get "there" and back again without unusual trouble or delay because you have laid your plans as well as is humanly possible. You put on new tires where they are needed and you treated yourself right. You investigated and found that Savage Tires are worthy of confidence, and you purchased accordingly. Now you sit back and thoroughly enjoy the day. It will take something really unforseen to mar its pleasure for you.

That's the way to really enjoy life.

A timely subject is usually well received. People like to keep up with the times. There will always be a "Next Sunday", so we are safe there. We hope it doesn't rain! If it does, please apply what we say here to the next nice Sunday when you and the family are going out for a ride.

We say this because there's a Savage Tire suited to your particular requirements. We make two kinds of cord tires and a fabric tire from which you may choose

ANNUAL REPORT OF TUES. AFTERNOON CLUB IN DETAIL

Mrs. Campbell Renders Account of the Work That Has Been Done

At the time of the annual meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club the president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, gave a report which was partially oral, stating that she would prepare it in detail for filing in the archives of the club and for publication in the newspapers of Glendale. Following is the report:

"On June 27, 1923, Mrs. John C. Urquhart, district president of the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's Clubs (now state president) started your 12 members of the board of directors for the year 1922-1923 on the hardest journey twelve women had ever the pleasure of tackling.

"We were started off under very pleasing circumstances, as on that day the ground was broken here for the erection of our new club home.

"Your president has presided at all the regular and special meetings of the year except that of May 8, when she was attending the 22nd annual state convention held at Eureka.

"She has presided at all the regular and called board meetings except two, being called on the club grounds as early as 8 a. m. and at the home of our past president, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, to the wee small hours of the morning.

"She has written and answered over 100 letters and it has seemed to her that her telephone has never ceased ringing from 7 a. m. until 11 and 12 p. m. The family has been obliged to leave home at times to get a little quietness from the telephone, as when someone was not calling her, she was calling someone.

"She had the pleasure of attending the district convention at San Luis Obispo and seeing Mrs. Charles H. Toll, one of our own beloved life members, installed as Los Angeles district president. One of the many pleasures she enjoyed during this past year was signing her name 173 times, presenting the name of Mrs. Toll as a candidate for president of Los Angeles district.

"On Charter day, the second Tuesday in November, she was assisted by all the past presidents or their representatives in laying the corner stone of our new clubhouse.

"On March 12 the clubhouse was opened to all our friends in Glendale and surrounding district, when we held a reception from 3 until 5 o'clock. The president presided at the formal opening, March 13, "Husbands' night."

"She has attended 11 reciprocity meetings, attended six presidents' councils, one at Long Beach, one at Huntington Park and four in Los Angeles.

"We have entertained at luncheon, on May 24, all the men heads of all the religious, civic and fraternal organizations in Glendale, letting the gentlemen see how our club works on our annual business meeting.

"On our closing luncheon day, June 27, we extended the same courtesy to some of the heads of the women's organizations.

"We have added to our membership since July, 1922, 346 new members. Death has robbed us of two of our past presidents, Mrs. Mary Gridley-Braly and Mrs. A. W. Tower, also Mrs. E. C. Frank, an honorary member; Mrs. Harriet White, one of our oldest members, Mrs. James Connor and Mrs. J. L. Watson. Our membership to date is 1001.

"At the beginning of the club year Mrs. Von Oven had to resign from the board of directors on account of poor health and the board appointed Mrs. A. A. Barton in her place. Since May 1 Mrs. Barton has been secretary-hostess and is in the office from 9 until 11 during the summer months.

"We had eight splendid sections at the end of the last year and this year we added two more, the Bible section and the Maids and Young Matrons section. Our Arts and Crafts section has been so popular that we had to start an Arts and Crafts No. 2.

"Our council consists of the board of directors, curators of sections and chairmen of committees, making 43 persons. We have met four times this year and the club has profited greatly by the help which came from these conferences. Your president has been your chairman of finance for building and furnishings not only during the year 1921-1922 but also 1922-1923. She rejoices with every member of the club that we have not found it necessary to borrow the $10,000 from the two members and eight good men who had enough confidence in our business ability to be willing to sign our note in a Glendale bank for that amount. Your president has also seen to it that our building equipment is properly insured. We carry liability compensation insurance and pay for monthly police protection.

"We have taken from the membership of the club 99 names and they are now life members, your president becoming a life member at the end of April, 1922, making 100 life members and thereby receiving in cash $10,000 without interest, towards our furnishings.

"At our annual meeting honorary life membership was conferred upon Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson in recognition of her work in purchasing the ground and acting as executive chairman of the building committee.

"Our ten sections and 23 committee have worked willingly and harmoniously, leaving very tangible evidence of their love for our clubhouse in the form of useful and beautiful furnishings and equipment.

"We have had Hugo Kirchhofer from 1:30 until 2:30 every meeting day, leading us in community singing, accompanied by our own Mrs. H. R. Boyer.

"We have received from friends and admirers 80 gifts. All the committees and sections and board members have given the club 27 gifts. For our formal opening, March 13, we received 16 baskets of beautiful flowers from friends and organizations. We have seven memorials in the shape of furniture or pictures. Over 550 auditorium chairs have been purchased by members and friends and presented to the club.

"We have kept up all our philanthropic work, adding to our usual yearly contributions, cash to the Juvenile Protective association and the Ortheopedic hospital. Our chairmen have also helped with the sale of tickets for every worth while object brought to our notice.

"Our legislative section has kept in touch with our own Mr. Weller while in Sacramento, and we have supported bills relating to women and children especially.

"Your president has represented you at receptions, banquets, luncheons and has given a word of greeting when invited to do so and had the pleasure of addressing the Women's club of Owensmouth on their guest day on 'Club Finance.' She had one of the Year Books, 1922-1923 put in the crypt at Grand View cemetery, which shall be opened in 50 years from date of depositing same.

It has been with the greatest possible pleasure that she has in the name of the club been able to give our beautiful banquet room, palm court and kitchen when necessary to Community Service for recreational work for the young women and young men of Glendale.

"We took out a membership in the Chamber of Commerce in October, 1922, and have had the pleasure of assisting that valuable body of interested citizens.

"We also have a membership in Save the Redwoods League and were able to help financially in getting a prize for one of the talented amateur artists of the L. A. district.

"We have had the great pleasure of presenting to the district not only our own Mrs. Toll but Mrs. J. C. Dunn, our recording secretary, as corresponding secretary for the L. A. district California Federation of Women's Clubs. We are proud and happy of the work our Mrs. R. E. Chase has been privileged to do during the last two years as chairman of drama for the district.

"Words fail to express my sincere thanks to my friends on the board, 11 women who are true blue and the best workers in the world, the past presidents, section curators and committees. Your president must not forget the Glendale Evening News and the Glendale Press and the Telephone company, who have always been happy to serve us. And last, but by no means least, the good husbands and friends who have stood by us with their valuable advice and have helped us financially and put up with many inconveniences so their wives and women folks might work for the success of the T. A. C. There are many of the members of the club known only to the president who have worked quietly, not being on committees; they have encouraged your president with many kind words and warm hand clasps. Your president feels better physically than she did one year ago and she would not be true to herself or to the club if she did not reverently and humbly testify to the gracious help and love of the kind Heavenly Father, who doeth all things well and has given her the strength to carry on."

REV. SWANEY HAS BIG AUDIENCE AT REVIVAL

Week of Nazarene Tent Promises Well for Campaign Closing

A large audience attended the service at the Nazarene Evangelical tent Tuesday night. Rev. Swaney preached a heartsearching sermon on the Crucifixion. The text chosen was found in Gal. 2:20 where Paul, the apostle says, "I am crucified with Christ, nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me; and the life which I live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me." Rev. Swaney held his audience thrilled with his sermon last night.

This week gives promise of being the greatest one since the campaign started. There are conversions at every service. Five precious souls were prayed through Tuesday night. A great service is being planned for this evening at the tent. A service of prayer is held each evening at 7:15, followed by the evangelistic service at 7:30. Great singing! Wonderful preaching! Come tonight!

THE PRESIDENTIAL OUTLOOK

We think there is no doubt but President Harding has cinched his hold upon the leadership of the republican party by his trip through the west, and has put other candidates of the party out of the running, as far as the nomination for the presidency is concerned. As to the election, he would be a bold prophet who would make any prophesies at this time. A year and a half is a long time for things to develop. European conditions may make a great change in the attitude of men and things over there. The voters may have many things to consider at the polls beside prohibition, the farmer's bloc, the cost of government or high prices.

The democrats on the other hand, do not seem to be so far apart in their choice of a candidate. Nor is there much for them to make a platform of, unless by some means the "wets" should wield a large power in the convention, and that seems improbable at this time. Some one said recently that the south did its drinking openly and stood for the Volstead law, and the north did its drinking on the sly and stood against it. So far as the south is concerned, we do not know from this distance how they do their drinking, but we are pretty certain no "wet" candidate will find support in the south. And we know that much drinking is done in the north slyly, but the north is not against the Volstead law, and would by no means support a candidate who stood on a reactionary platform.

There is again the chance that there may be an independent candidacy on the part of Mr. Ford. Reports from the industrial centers allege warm support of the motor maker. But reports from the common people were that they would support Mr. Bryan in 1896 and Mr. Bryan is still waiting for that promise of support to be made good.

Of all the candidates mentioned, Mr. Ford is perhaps the one with the fewest qualifications for the presidency, notwithstanding the enormous financial success of his motor factories. All of us will remember Mr. Ford's one venture into world affairs, when he sent the peace ship across the Atlantic to bring the boys out of the trenches. Naturally, everybody wanted the boys out of the trenches. But the boys themselves did not want to get out until they had done the job they went over to do. Mr. Ford's venture was wholly spectacular and impotent. And spectacle and impotence are not what we need or want in the presidency.

A MORAL IN THE PRIZE RING

Sometimes we may find an excellent moral principle exemplified in so sordid and unlikely place as a prize ring. And wherever we find an excellent moral principle it is a good thing to point it out for the benefit of all of us. So we learn from the battle of Shelby and the attitude of the sporting blood of the United States that it is possible to be victorious in defeat.

We do not know whether this cogent fact has appealed either to Mr. Dempsey or Mr. Gibbons. Both of them perhaps, were looking for money and personal advantage more than high moral principles, which do not always prevail in the prize ring. But with his three hundred thousand dollars, or what part of it the Shelbyites were able finally to plank down, Mr Dempsey admits that he is disappointed. And it may be said, in the language of the great amusement world, that his return home to Salt Lake was a "frost." No bands, no cheering supporters, no parade—just silence. Dempsey slipped into town with as little fuss as a hobo on the brakebeam or a tired traveling salesman after a long trip.

On the other hand, witness Gibbons. Losing the fight, and weighed down with none of the filthy lucre that clung to the fists and pockets of Dempsey and his manager, he gets a wired contract for vaudeville appearance, cheers and worwhoops of all the Indian chieftains in the vicinity, the friendship of the Shelbyites all and singular, and is promise da civic reception on his return to St. Paul.

Surely there is some balm in this Gilead for all the jabs, hooks and smashes he suffered at the hands of Dempsey on our nation's Independence day. And much may flow into his coffers from various sources, until it will be that the fight was not without its financial as well as social and spiritual benefit.

All of which means that Dempsey is far from occupying the position in the hearts of sporting folk held by the late John L. Sullivan, who was sworn at, sworn to and sworn by most all the devotees of the roped arena during all the time he held the championship. And when the light of the fistic John L. went out at the hands of the boy Corbett, there was gloom over the entire sporting world of the United States and young sters refused to be comforted. What is three hundred thousand compared with that?

So it appears that it is possible to win and to lose at the same time. And it is also possible to lose and win. The United States could probably remain upon an even keel without the activity of either of these gladiators of the ring. But as long as they gladiate we might as well draw the moral. And the moral is plain. Gibbons has proven always his gameness and good quality. Dempsey lacks that something that makes a man a bit admirable, even if he is a prize fighter. No wonder he is disappointed.

THE PARADE PASSES

A procession never stops. The circus parade passes in one blaze of color and noise after another.

So in the great human circus parade, things come and go and are forgotten in the coming of new things.

A few months ago Dr. Coue was telling everybody to get better and better every day. Then the amiable doctor passed from the public view as suddenly as he burst upon it and Doctor Doyle visited us to invoke the spirits and have them photographed so we could see them.

Now the amiable doctor passes from the view and other and newer and noisier attractions engage the public attention. And none of them seem to engage it for long.

This is, we may say, the froth of public life and interest. Beneath it all and steadily moving is the struggle of men for light and progress. They are not disturbed by the cries of fakers or mountebanks or ballyhoos. Their work continues, and the human race is benefited, in many cases without either its knowledge or help.

The froth bubbles a little time and disappears. The noise dies away. The great and interesting human procession goes on. But it is little wonder that who would engage the public attention even slightly must have a capable and untiring press agent.

The Best Losing Card

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Some days ago while reading an exotic story I came across the expression "She had chosen the worst possible losing card."

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

In this particular story the heroine had not counted on losing and had in consequence taken no account of what might happen if the card she had played to win failed to perform its function. It did so fail and the foundations went out from under her life.

Taking a chance is the great American national vice. The vast majority of chance takers lose their money; the rare fortunate ones win not by luck, as the majority hope to win, but by foreknowledge. They have carefully estimated the value of each card that passes through their hands, not only as a winner but as a potential loser, and in the face of their calculations they bet or speculate. Failing of complete success they have cannily arranged a soft place on which to fall, which means that in addition to playing the best possible winning cards they have arranged to play the best possible losing cards.

Only ignorance and arrogance refuse to consider the possibility of loss. Perhaps instead of using a pair of nouns in that sentence I should have used a trio: I should have said ignorance, arrogance and love.

But in the last analysis love is a form of arrogance. More than any other inspiring emotion love refuses to consider the possibility of failure. That is the chief reason why when love fails it takes with it the foundations of life.

When a woman loves a man or a man a woman the faerie mist of delusion obscures the power of judgment and the lover sees the beloved only in terms of success, happiness and devotion.

Love makes aces of every tray and every deuce in the human deck and the bewitched is unable to calculate the possibilities of loss in connection with the future.

Recently I met a beautiful woman who had married a man at the height of a fortuitous success. He enjoyed a brief, brilliant glory, the result of family influence and a rare combination of happy circumstances. In himself he had neither the power to succeed permanently nor the power to stand alone. The woman was ambition incarnate, but she loved this man and took a chance on marriage with him, denying to herself that any chance of loss whatever was involved.

His success flared out as it had flared in, and she faced the future with the obligation to support herself and her children by her own efforts.

She had never for one moment calculated on her husband as a losing card. He was a very bad losing card indeed, for his failure drove him to bootleg liquor and his wife to the divorce court. When she came into court to ask for the custody of her children "His Honor" asked her:

"When you married this man did you never figure that he might fail? Had you no knowledge that would enable you to calculate the effect of failure on his character?"

And the woman replied: "I never take failure into consideration."

"Then," said 'His Honor,' "you never take life into consideration. Marriage is a lottery and no wise person plays a lottery without figuring on the losing as well as the best winning cards."

"That's a gambler's view," retorted the woman.

His Honor was indignant for he merely answered:

"Marriage is a gamble and a wise gambler counts on every contingency. We marry for better or for worse, in theory. In fact, few of us ever figure on worse; perhaps that is why it so often comes."

"Her" Versus "Hers"

A. J. Cohen, Chicago: "How can I express ownership of—say a picture, first, where it is the portrait of the person owning it; and, secondly, where it is not such a portrait—'picture of her' or 'picture of hers'? Which is correct: 'I should be glad to discuss . . .' or 'I shall be glad to discuss . . .'?"

Answer: In reply to your first question, "where it is the portrait of the person owning it," the answer is that "a picture of hers," while inferring that the picture belongs to her, does not mean the picture is a likeness of her; nor does a "picture of her" imply that the picture belongs to her. You might fulfil your requirements in the following manner: That picture of Mary's is of herself. Either "I should" or "I shall" is correct, each having a different meaning. "I shall' is merely a prediction. When you say "I should," a condition is implied; as, I should be glad to discuss the matter, if I were asked.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Nations do not survive by tradition alone.
Rome had tradition of the highest sort.
So had Greece.
Doubtless so too had Egypt.

JAMES W. FOLEY

And others of the ancient nations.

But they did not survive in the splendor to which they attained.

They perished.

* * *

Civis Romanus Sum was the proud boast of many men in Roman times.

When Rome ruled the world.

I am a Roman citizen.

There was all the pride of tradition in that.

But Rome could not live by tradition alone.

The public spirit fell.

Men lost their high courage and sturdy quality.

* * *

Deeds make tradition.

The tradition of the United States arises from great deeds.

The deeds of brave men and women.

Done courageously and unselfishly for the common good.

The tradition is handed down from generation to generation.

Tradition of the deeds of the Putnams and the Henrys and the Washingtons and the Hamiltons and the Monroes and the Adamses and the Lincolns and the Clays and the Roosevelts and the Grants and the Shermans.

* * *

Great deeds they did for the United States.

And so came the shining tradition of statecraft and battle and statesmanship and oratory and legislation.

Tradition that arose from great deeds.

* * *

And we cling to that tradition and cherish it and take pride in it.

All of it written in the flag.

For the flag is the symbol of national tradition.

Stained and written and woven into the great deeds of men and women.

* * *

But the nation cannot survive by that tradition alone.

It can survive no more than Greece did or Rome did.

For the tradition must be maintained.

Like a flower, it must be cared for and nourished and watered anew and ever with the great deeds of men and women.

With unselfishness and courage and honesty and truth.

* * *

So when we are cherishing tradition, we must be inspired by tradition.

For a nation survives by a maintenance of tradition.

And the only way to maintain tradition is with new deeds of high courage.

* * *

If honesty and courage founded this nation, then there must be honesty and courage to maintain it.

If the flag was made a thing to be honored because of patriotism, then patriotism must be invoked to maintain it and keep it floating high.

* * *

The tradition of yesterday will not alone preserve the nation of today.

But the tradition of yesterday should inspire the patriotic deeds of today.

Not deeds of battle alone.

But the every day deeds of the home and the school and the market place and the officers of government.

* * *

A nation cannot survive by tradition alone.

It will survive only by the brave deeds that maintain tradition and keep it always splendid and pure.

Songs of the Poets

A Wish—Samuel Rogers

Mine be a cot beside the hill,
A bee hive's hum shall soothe my ear;
A willowy brook that turns a mill,
With many a fall shall linger near.

The swallow, oft, beneath my thatch
Shall twitter from her clay-built nest;
Oft shall the pilgrim lift the latch,
And share my meal, a welcome guest.

Around my ivied porch shall spring,
Each fragrant flower that drinks the dew;
And Lucy, at her wheel, shall sing
In russet gown and apron blue.

The village church among the trees,
Where first our marriage vows were given,
With merry peals shall swell the breeze
And point with taper spire to Heaven.

ALONE IN THE HOUSE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

One thing I refuse to do. It is to sleep alone in a house that is empty of humans and dogs.

I might consent to sleep in a prison cell by myself, especially if I were moved to do so by two burly policemen, but my punishment would be much worse if I knew no fellow criminals were in neighboring cells. Half of the comfort of lodging at an inn is the feeling that another traveler is in every other cubicle.

Even if I had to sleep the night on a bench in the park, I think I should get along better if there were other hoboes about.

Still, an empty park or an empty field has nothing of the terror of an empty house.

A woman may be no protection against burglars, but she is a great protection against spooks. Her presence may not have seemed to be much and I may have taken it for a matter of course, but her absence is something appalling.

We are tempted at times to say children are a bother and their rattle and bang and exuberant vitality get on our nerves. But the goneness of them is vastly more fearsome than their presence.

Alone in the house I rest all night upon the cliff edge of alarms.

What ghostly things the wind does with the curtain! What half-heard sounds arouse me to intent listening! You would never suspect that a wardrobe makes as much noise as a boiler factory until you lay awake at night listening to it popping and creaking.

My cane slips and falls in the corner and I wake up perfectly sure that somebody has been firing at me with a revolver.

I hear hurrying footsteps. Somebody is in the other room. A young army is in the hall probably carrying a corpse.

I know there is a pounding at the door until I lie right still a few moments and discover that it was only my heart thumping in the pillow.

I never knew that just moving your finger nail along the pillow could make a noise like a steam engine. Morbid fancies that never get a peep into my mind during the day now come right in, sit down and make themselves at home.

I see myself dying alone. I map out the whole scene, the discovery of my body, the hue and cry of the funeral. I even read the notice in the papers about my demise wherein people say kindly platitudes about me in which they never indulged during my lifetime.

I am not afraid, not even timid. O no, nothing like that! Only scared pink.

And I am grown up. What must little children suffer?

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

LODGE AND "THE LEAGUE"

[Rev. William E. Barton, in The Congregationalist]

I was for a long time an ardent advocate of the League of Nations. In certain public addresses early in the war, I said that when the war was over, there ought to be a "United States of the World" organized to make future wars impossible. When, later, Mr. Taft came out for his League to Enforce Peace, I listened to him with approval and joined his organization. When, later, Woodrow Wilson became the advocate of a League of Nations, as by that time it had come to be called, I was a thorough-going supporter of Mr. Wilson in that program.

I never gave my whole-hearted sanction to the Lodge reservations, but I advocated their adoption with all my might. Why? Because, I thought and still think they were essentially right; secondly, if Wilson would have accepted them, Lodge and his party would have had to support them and the treaty would have been ratified. But Senator Lodge came in just then for criticism and denunciation which seemed to me exceedingly unfortunate, and he and Wilson broke hopelessly just when they might have joined forces and achieved a great result.

I have some reason to believe that in this matter Senator Lodge acted from good motives. I cannot speak so well for him afterward. His speech before the National Republican Convention in June, 1920, was vindictive. He trembled visibly while he delivered it. I have seen him on that same platform, a strong, courageous leader; but on that occasion, he was a petulant old man, eager to resent an insult. I for one did not enjoy it.

Nevertheless, I knew that Lodge was more than half right, and that the country was certain to stand by him. He must have been a blind man who did not see that when the President broke with the senate, the voters of the country were certain, in that case, to support the senate.

Since that day, as I believe, every resolution by a religious body, demanding that America should enter the League of Nations, has been the most childish folly.

NEWS OF THE STARS

By ISABEL M. LEWIS
Of U. S. Naval Observatory

TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE COMING

For the first time in five years Americans will have a chance to see the sun totally extinguished in their own country when on September 10 the moon will blot out the light of the sun.

The phenomenon in its partial phase will be visible throughout the United States but in order to observe the total disappearance of the sun in full day, observers must go to southernmost California, Lower California, or the adjacent parts of Mexico.

Again the Einstein theory of relativity is to be tested, although it will not be of paramount interest as it was at the Australian eclipse of last year. The nearly perfect agreement between the values predicted by the Einstein theory and the measurements of star images on photographic plates taken last fall by the Lick Observatory expedition, coupled with the British tests of 1919, are very convincing, yet observers will be in the field this fall equipped to duplicate and check these tests.

The axis of the moon's shadow-cone will strike the earth at sunrise, September 10 near Kamchatka in Asia. From there the path of total eclipse, about 150 miles wide, will sweep across uninhabited tracts of the Pacific ocean until it touches the large group of islands off the coast of California south of Santa Barbara and west of San Diego. It will reach this point at about 1 p. m. local time. Duration of totality here will be three minutes and thirty-six seconds on the central line which passes midway between Santa Rosa and San Nicholas Islands and directly over San Clemente Island. From this point the path of total eclipse passes to the peninsula of Lower California.

The small Mexican town of Ensenada lies within five miles of the central line and can be reached by auto stage from San Diego. A number of observers will doubtless locate in this vicinity as weather and observing conditions are expected to be very favorable in Lower California. There will be excellent facilities for observers on the Islands off the coast of California but the weather reports indicate that the prospects of fair weather are less favorable for the islands than for Lower California.

The central line of eclipse crosses the mainland of Mexico to Yucatan. It passes midway between Hermosillo and Guaymas in Sonora and runs fifteen miles southwest of Cuencane in Durango and twenty miles southwest of Tampico. Payo Obispo on the east coast of Yucatan lies close to the central line but the eclipse occurs here late in the afternoon and the duration is reduced to about two minutes and twenty-five seconds. After leaving Yucatan the shadow path passes to the south of the West Indies and leaves the earth at sunset to the southeast of Porto Rico. The chances of fair weather at eclipse time in Mexico are not very great except in the vicinity of Hermosillo and Cuencane as the rainy season comes during the summer months and is not due to end before the last of September.

The partial phase of the eclipse will be visible over all of North America. At the Mt. Wilson Observatory the greatest obscuration will be 98.5 per cent and though astronomers will be sent from this observatory to the central line it is expected that it will be possible to obtain some valuable observations on Mt. Wilson with the powerful equipment there available. Expeditions will be sent to the central line from most of the large observatories in the United States and in addition to testing the Einstein theory once more many observations will be made of the structure of the solar corona and of the position of important lines in the "flash" spectrum and the coronal spectrum.

The amateur astronomer will also have his chance to contribute something of value to the sum of scientific knowledge by making drawings of the corona, observing shadow bands and in various other ways.

Dr. A. E. Douglass of the Steward Observatory of the University of Arizona will lead an expedition into Mexico, and amateurs are also planning an expedition into the Sonora desert by automobiles to the central line, a distance of 160 miles from Douglas, Ariz.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE FEAR OF GOD

The old uncle was giving advice to the young mother whose boy of four was growing fast and furiously. He had just broken the pane of glass in the hall door and had calmly said he hadn't.

"'Twan't me did it, mother. A very bad little boy did it. Not me 'tall, mother dear."

"I'm afraid it was the naughty little boy that gets inside your jacket every once in a while," said his mother gravely. "I'm afraid you'll have to invite him to come and play with the good little boy that ought to be there."

"M-m-m-m," said the tousle head.

"Virginia, that's not the way to talk to a child that has done wrong. He threw his ball through that glass and he knows it. You ought to make him confess it. You've got to put the fear of God into that child's heart or he'll go to the bad. Do your duty by him."

Why should a child fear God? Why should he be taught to fear the Father of all Gods? Why should he be taught to fear either his father or his mother when he has done what displeases them?

What we want to teach him is the fear of himself, of his own wrong doing, not us, not God. He should be able to love us and to love God. Goodness, so much that it hurts him to know that he has done something to grieve the great Love by which he is surrounded.

"Who's God?" demanded a three-year-old of his mother.

"Why, I thought you knew that God was your heavenly father," said she.

"No, not that one. Not the God that is my heavenly father. I means the one that burns up little boys when they are bad like me."

That's the sort of thing that drives children away from all thought of God. First they shiver and suffer through troubled days and awful nights. Gradually they harden their thought to the point of daring and close out all thought or mention of a God so fearful and so uncertain as the one who "strikes dead" the liar and who "smites the wicked." Then we have what folk call the "godless" child.

He is not godless because he refuses to accept that sort of God. He senses dimly that you are wrong and builds up in his heart another idea of what God means to him. That takes many years and costs bitterly.

Teach them that they are an expression of God's love and goodness, that to be as He would have them all that is necessary is to do their very best to keep clean and play straight. To do less grieves God and dishonors Him. That's enough.

Fear of punishment never leads a soul to its height. It clogs it, weighs it down, keeps it on the lowest plane of aspiration and accomplishment. Free the children from all fear.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

One of his old friends told a story recently about Charles Gates Dawes—you know—the man who hammered the first budget through an alarmed and indignant congress.

"Charley," he said, "always knew what he wanted. And he had no hesitation in taking it. Which is why he has been a success."

When Charles was a young man he was no more of a pacifist than he is now, after having seen how difficult it is to keep war away from a people, and what it does to a defenseless nation. He organized a company in his home town of which he elected himself captain. In order to get his young friends out to drill he issued red tickets after each performance.

"When you have twenty red tickets, you get a certificate," he said. By and by the faithful, having drilled twenty times, were given the certificate. It certified that:

"The bearer has drilled twenty times to the satisfaction of his captain."

But that wasn't the real story. After Dawes had his company well broken to right-and-left-wheeling he organized a band, in which he played the fife. But he would not give up the captaincy of his company. For some weeks he tooted valiantly in the rear rank of the band. Now and then he removed one hand from the fife to wigwag, or hurriedly took it from his mouth to bawl an order. Dawes was satisfied.

But the company rebelled. It felt that its dignity was lowered by being captained by a fife-player who was engrossed in his art. The company served notice on Dawes that he must give up either the company or the fife.

He always knew what he wanted—and took it. So he kept the fife.

COMMUNITY NET TOURNAMENT IS DECIDED UPON

Glendale Daily Press to Offer Fine Trophies to the Winners

At the meeting held by Glendale Community Service at the Tuesday Afternoon club last evening, of which Mrs. John Case, chairman of recreation, had charge, twenty or more signed up tennis tournaments and it was decided to leave the enrollment open until next Tuesday evening, when another meeting will be held at the clubhouse and final plans will be worked out. There will be tournaments for both boys and girls and the Glendale Press is offering two fine trophies. Any who wisn to enroll for the tournaments can do so through Director Tucker at the Chamber of Commerce by telephone or otherwise.

The swimming party to be given by Community Service Thursday night at the Patterson avenue pool is for young people 16 and over, not children. A program of sports in the water, directed by J. C. Smith, chairman of swimming, will be followed by a bonfire and wienie roast. Those expecting to attend the swimming party are asked to register at the Community Service headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce, Glendale 3070.

The next dance under Community Service will be given Thursday evening, July 26.

POWERFUL SERMON PREACHED AT THE NAZARENE TENT

Preaching what was said by many to be the greatest sermon they had ever heard, Rev. L. E. Swaney at the Nazarene tent Monday night held his audience with eloquence. The text selected by Rev. Swaney was taken from Matt. 22:11-13, which is taken from the account of the man who went to the Marriage Supper without the wedding garment. Rev. Swaney said that when a person enters Uncle Sam's army there's one uniform that must be worn. Rev. Swaney took occasion to speak of the styles of the day. Said he:

"I don't know where we can draw the line. I guess we will have to let modesty settle the question. Some day we are going to a place where we will all dress alike. Clean livers, purity and righteousness become the children of God."

In speaking of holiness, Rev. Swaney said that the following points were emphasized by Rev. Swaney, a solemn scrutiny. Said he:

"This scrutiny was divine. People had not been judging the man that came to the wedding. It is enough to make us tremble to think we are being scrutinized by God. This scrutiny of God is personal; every man is responsible for his own life."

The second point brought out by Rev. Swaney was an awful detection. Rev. Swaney illustrated this point by saying that if there was only one grain of wheat, God would find it. Also if there is only one hypocrite, God would find him. He told the story of the boy who went away from home and when he grew up he decided to go back and visit the old home. He drove up in a fine carriage and knocked at the door, and went into the house and sat down, and when his mother came in he had to show her his hand that had the finger taken off before she knew who he was. Rev. Swaney said people were going to hell because they failed to find God and get right with Him. "You can't afford to let your soul be in jeopardy and not get right with God," he said.

The next point spoken of by Rev. Swaney was an awful investigation. The host said to the man who came to the wedding supper, "Why camest thou hither without the wedding garment?" Rev. Swaney said that there is a day coming when all will stop our foolishness, when we will stop and think.

The musical part of the service last night in cluded a solo by Mrs. Hull, who stirs those who hear her to the deepest depths of feeling. Rev. and Mrs. Scheideman and Mrs. Hull sang a trio that was greatly enjoyed. Miss Lura Leason is doing splendid work with her violin. Miss Leason was recently converted and is using her musical talents for the glory of God. There will be service tonight at 7:30 p. m. This is the last week of the campaign.

KEITH L. BROOKS ON PETER'S VISION

Peter's vision that resulted in the doors of the early church being opened to Gentile believers, was the topic of the interesting discussion at the city hall Sunday morning when Keith L. Brooks addressed the Presbyterian Brotherhood class. The lesson was based on the tenth chapter of the Acts. He said in part:

"Cornelius of Caesarea, an officer of the Roman army, was an honest seeker after God and God gave him a vision directing him as to how he might find the truth. At about the same time a vision came to the Apostle Peter, impelling him toward this Gentile seeker after God. The last place one would look for the first Gentile Christian would be in the bar racks at Caesarea. Evidently the military profession is not compatible with Christianity. True piety may exist and flourish in the army. In the conversion of this soldier we have a prophetic intimation of the submission of strong empires to the yoke of the Gospel. The word of Jesus, 'Other sheep I have which are not of this fold,' began to be fulfilled.

"Cornelius was already a devout seeker after truth, although he was not saved. He was a man who lived up to his light and sought more. If men would use the simple truths about God that they already know, God would reveal Himself more fully to them. The eyes that run to and fro throughout all the earth behold all honest searchings after Him. He knows just what is needed to make spiritual experience complete. He invariably leads, as in the case of Cornelius, to Jesus Christ, as the Savior of mankind.

"Cornelius was prepared to receive the message of salvation, but God's servant was not yet ready to deliver it. Peter had not yet fully grasped the fact that the Gospel was for heathen who knew nothing of Jewish law or ritual. We cannot realize the difficulty to the mind of a Jew that Gentiles could be admitted at once into the church, without passing through the door of Judaism. God had to awaken Peter to this by the unique vision of a great sheet let down from heaven, filled with all manner of beasts and creeping things. This was a unique symbol of universal humanity. Peter was commanded to kill and eat. This brought to his mind the Mosaic restrictions which differentiated the Jew from all other nations. Peter objected at first, because it was a new idea. But God showed him there was to be no further ceremonial distinction. Jew and Gentile united in killing the Christ. There need be no separation after this. All alike are guilty and need salvation. The church is a conglomerate mixture, like what Peter saw in his vision, but cleansed by the blood of the Lamb of God.

"When Peter was persuaded to enter the house of Cornelius and preach the Gospel, the Jewish phase of the church ended. To Cornelius he said, 'I perceive that God is no respector of persons.' Peter had fallen asleep a sectarian, but he awoke a cosmopolitan. The words, 'whosoever believeth,' occur for the first time in this book. Christianity could never have attracted the world as a Jewish sect. Christians have much reason to be thankful for the vision that came to Peter and for the journey he made to the house of Cornelius. The door was henceforth thrown wide open to all.

Ex-Champion, Blind More Than Year, Can See Again

Pete Hermann, blind since April, 1922, has regained the sight of one of his eyes. After having his eyes shielded from the light for 87 days, the bandages were removed and the former bantamweight champion of the world could see. He is shown here with his dog mascot.

LECTURE ON AFRICA

A stereoptican lecture on the "Interior of Africa" will be given in the Gospel Tabernacle church, corner Louise and Chestnut streets, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. A. R. Williams for 25 years a missionary to the Dark Continent. The slides will depict thrilling adventure, jungle scenes, native occupation and plant and animal life of various descriptions. Buildings will be shown with a seating capacity of 1300, built of solid mahogany and resting on posts of pure ebony.

MARYSVILLE IS DULL

MARYSVILLE, Calif., July 11 (United Press).—Nothin' to do. No one to arrest. Months pass by and everybody behaves. No one gets drunk. Happiness and busy people everywhere. Constable S. P. Snugg quit. No one to arrest, so he felt useless. He served in the territory south of Marysville. The supervisors accepted the resignation and there will be no peace officer down there.

NEW MASONIC TEMPLE

[By Associated Press]

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Local Masonic bodies are raising $400,000 for the construction of a new Masonic temple here.

"THE POT OF OIL" REV. EDMONDS' THEME

At the Glendale Presbyterian church Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, spoke, using as his theme, "The Pot of Oil," and taking his text from 2 Kings 4: 2-7. Mr. Edmonds said that the events in the life of Elisha were more like those in the life of Christ than any incidents in the Old Testament. "Many of his miracles," Rev. Edmonds went on, "are distinctly parallel to the miracles of our Lord, and breathe the same spirit of love and graciousness. A striking object lesson is here portrayed of the all sufficiency of the Holy Spirit for supplying every need.

"Here is a picture of debt involving the slavery of two sons and the utter destitution of their mother, her husband being dead. One thing is outstanding; this poor widow feared the Lord and recognized His power manifest through the prophet. In her condition of debt, danger and distress she had no one to go to but God and of course His power then and always is all sufficient.

"It is interesting to taken an inventory of this woman's resources. To her it seemed as nothing, but that little pot of oil was the one thing needful, for it contained the supply of all her need. Whether it be a pot of oil, the rod of Moses, or five loaves and two small fishes, our least is enough for God if we allow Him complete control. Few of us seem to realize our spiritual resources by the Holy Spirit and our redemption rights.

"Our greatest need is that we make room for God. Sometimes he has to make room for himself. Not enough to have need, we must have emptiness. We must be emptied of self consciousness and dependence upon man. There must be faith. We must count upon God. We must not wait until we see the oil running, but anticipate God's fulfillment and trust even when sight and reason say it is nonsense.

"This woman enjoyed the esteem of her neighbors for she borrowed all their empty vessels. There were pots, pans, vessels, everywhere. At Elisha's command she shut the door upon herself and her two sons, for there was to be no demonstration here. What a beautiful picture. The woman of faith and her two sons with the door shut. Now is the time for God to work and He certainly will by His Holy Spirit.

"Faith is manifest by works. She begins to pour out the contents of that little pot. The little pot of oil became a tube or pipe and every vessel was filled. Still that little not was running and it would have been running still if there had been vessels enough and room enough, but there is not a vessel more. 'And the oil stayed.' This sentence tells the story of many a life. How sad to see a Christian whom the Holy Spirit can no longer use. The influence and example are on the wrong side. They are saved, yet so as by fire. They bear no sheaves. Their lives are barren. They get into heaven by the skin of their teeth. May the Lord have mercy on the soul of the backslider.

"Another great lesson is here. The woman is told, 'Go sell the oil and live, thou and thy children on the rest.' This pot of oil represents that of power and value in meeting a great need—slavery and poverty. It meant, money, food, clothes. The Holy Spirit is convertible, so to speak, into everything we need. He is the Spirit of power.

We alone limit His power. He, the oil, never fails. We, the vessels, give out. The supply of oil ceases when there are no more vessels. It is a question of relationship. Vessels for the oil—oil for the vessels. Many face the dilemna—one apart from the others. The Holy Spirit is present but there are no vessels or they are unclean. 'Be ye clean that bear the vessels of the Lord.' 'Blessed are the pure in heart.'"

LEGION NEWS

For God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of Justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrete and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.—Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Morgan Keaton, department adjutant of the American Legion, announces that 1600 more members have joined the American Legion in California since the opening of the state-wide membership drive, June 20. Officials of the state department estimate that the strength of the organization in this state will be more than 60,000 before the national convention which convenes here October 15 to 19, inclusive. This will enable the Legionnaires of the Golden state to stretch the banner bearing the slogan "California" across Market street at the opening of this massive conclave which is expected to have 250,000 in attendance.

District No. 34, which is commanded by M. O. C. Hull, and includes posts from the following cities, Long Beach, Whittier, Huntington Park, San Pedro, Compton, Downey, Montebello, and Catalina Island, is in the lead. Keen competition is being shown by District No. 30, comprising posts from El Segundo, Culver City, Santa Monica, Torrence, Venice and Redondo beach. Excellent reports are being received from all of the 40 districts throughout the state.

Cottage type hospitals, as being especially adaptable to California climate, have been definitely recommended to the Veterans' Bureau at Washington by Major Louis T. Grant, manager of the twelfth district, according to a statement issued yesterday by Judge A. E. Graupner, chairman of the state rehabilitation committee of the American Legion.

At the request of the American Legion, general plans and specifications for the cottage type hospital have been drawn and perfected by Architect Henry H. Myers, of San Francisco, working in conjunction with Dr. R. G. Broderick, of the Veterans' bureau and members of the rehabilitation committee. This type of hospital will consist of a central service building, flanked by wings which will be partitioned off into small wards and rooms containing from one to three beds.

The type will be specially fitted for tubercular patients and will enable the hospital officials to administer individual attention and treatment during the various stages of the dreaded disease. Mrs. Edith Tate-Thompson, head of the department of tuberculosis, state board of health, has written General Hines expressing her approval of this plan.

It is confidently expected by the Veteran bureau, and American Legion officials, that word will soon be received from Washington approving the plans, with orders to proceed with the construction of two hospitals of this type, with 200-bed capacity, each in California, one to be located at Livermore, Calif., and two others in Southern California; sites not yet designated.

HONEST TOURISTS THESE!

EUREKA, Calif., July 11 (United Press).—Tourists in the local automobile park have established a record for honesty, and it's just as safe to lay your diamond ring down and leave it as though it was in the bedroom at home.

Mrs. J. T. Chaurie of San Francisco, one of an auto party, while working in one of the kitchenettes, took off three valuable rings, one a diamond solitaire. Finished with her work, she left and forgot the rings. Later she remembered, returned to the kitchen and found them gone. She reported to the park superintendent, who immediately gave them to her. J. E. Power, another San Francisco party at the camp, had found the rings and turned them in. A young woman from Yreka had a similar experience. She left an expensive bracelet and it was returned to her by the park superintendent.

PRESCRIBED OWN LIQUOR

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11 (United Press).—Just how far should a doctor go in prescribing liquor for his own use? Dr. Homer I. Keeney is to find out officially in the courts here. He admitted drinking liquor he prescribed for his own use, saying he took it for stomach trouble. Captain of Police Arthur B. Lane wants to make a test cast of the matter. The ruling is expected to decide whether every family will train one member as a doctor.

He was a shrewd druggist who put a card in his window reading, "If you don'a use our soaps, then for heaven's sake try our perfumes."

BEAR-HONOLULU NINES TO MEET

HONOLULU, T. H., July 11.—The University of California baseball team will meet the Honolulu sector army nine here today, and will play every Saturday, Sunday and Wednesday hereafter until August 5, it has been announced here. The Bear schedule calls for seventeen games, five of which have been played. The schedule follows:

July 14, All-Chinese; July 15, the Wanderers; July 18, 35th Infantry; July 21, All-Chinese; July 25, Kahuku plantation of Kahuku; July 28, Wanderers; July 29, Asahis; August 1, Honolulu sector army nine; August 4, All-Hawaiians; August 5, the Braves.

LEAGUE DIVIDED ON QUESTION OF DISARMAMENT

[By Associated Press]

GENEVA, July 11.—The League of Nations appears to be moving toward a deadlock in its efforts to bring about a general reduction of armaments. The special committee that was to draft, for proposal to all league members, a general treaty to that end, with a mutual pact of guarantee to give effect to Article Ten of the covenant, has failed to accomplish anything. It is divided between the Cecil project for a general guarantee pact, and a French substitute providing for limited agreements between two or more members.

DANISH SHIPBUILDERS SEE BRISK TRADE AND FUTURE

COPENHAGEN, July 10 (Associated Press).—Danish shipbuilding yards seem to have safely weathered the post-war trade depression and are entering upon a period of comparative prosperity, says the Scandinavian "Shipping Gazette."

The yards have come through the crisis very well, principally owing to the consolidation policy which has been followed. With the placing of new orders, the yards are able to work more or less independently again. They are all busy, and a few of them are booked up. Unemployment has benefited accordingly.

The yard workers, earlier in the year, voluntarily agreed to reductions in wages in order to make it possible for the yard shipbuilders to bid low.

TENDER HEART ON RANGE

ELY, Nevada, July 11 (United Press).—"Nice sheepey. Is 'um little hoofsies all cold?"

Imagine this sung in a deep bass voice by a hard-faced rancher—no! ! Judge McDonald, in the local court here, couldn't imagine it either, and he warned anyone against picking up lambs again under severe penalty. John H. Eager, general manager of the Adams-McGill company, complained the company was losing large numbers of sheep because they were picked up. The defendants declared they picked up the sheep as an act of mercy.

CIGARETTES AND HOUSES TO BE CONSTRUCTED

By CHARLES H. SHINN
United States Forest Service

Thousands of new houses that people need cannot be had as yet because of the high price of lumber; people must wait and save more money. Meanwhile the whole country is beginning to wake up and work for better forest production, which means above all else the prevention of man-made fires.

Some of these fires are caused by careless hunters or careless campers, but a very large number are caused by the stupidity or thoughtless of smokers. The end of a cigarette dropped anywhere in our forests very often spells disaster. One single cigarette may thus destroy ten or a hundred or several thousand of the needed houses for homes of toiling Americans.

The general public needs a great deal more education upon this matter; the bad habit of dropping a cigarette end or a cigar stump, or emptying a pipe "anywhere" will be completely cured just as soon as people realize how much injury may result to the entire community and to the nation at large.

Indeed, the loss of houses is only a part of the story. Forest fires mean fewer books and newspapers, less electrical power, poorer grazing for cattle, unirrigated fields and general disaster. The "deadly cigarette" has much to answer for.

Let us suppose that every smoker did his smoking in camp or carefully destroyed the last spark of match or cigarette. That would almost mean that the golden age had come back to earth!

ENGLISH BUY INCUBATORS

PETALUMA, July 11 (United Press).—This city, the recognized egg and chicken shipping center of the west coast, and one of the biggest poultry centers of the world, is engaging in a new poultry line, having just sold a large order of incubators to an English firm.

The wells will be approximately 500 feet in depth. Bids shall be submitted with the understanding that the exact depth of the proposed wells has not been determined and that the depth shall be decided as the work progresses by the Superintendent of Plant and Production of the City of Glendale; also, that the total price to be paid shall be figured at the rate bid per foot for the depth drilled.

The contractor shall furnish for the walls 21-foot, 18-inch, 3-ply starters, No. 8 gauge plate; 18-inch by 16-inch by 1-inch solid steel bit shoes and such 18-inch, No. 8, gauge double casing to properly complete the wells to the depth determined upon by the Superintendent of Plant and Production.

U. S. GOLFERS SAY ENGLAND WAS COLD

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 11.—The air was damp and chilly at Troon when the British open golf championships were held recently.

A cold rain poured down over the grass course and the Americans stood shivering while they made comment on British hospitality.

It seems they thought the British attitude toward them wasn't any better than the weather. On every hand they met obstacles that are not usually placed in the way of visitors.

A few hours before the qualifying round started, the Americans were relieved of their best club, the corrugated mashie, by edict of the governing board. They had been practicing with that club continuously. They could see no reason why the British let them practice with it up to the eve of the match and then took it away from them. They needed it badly on the wet course.

Everywhere they went, they say, they were neglected and, in some instances, derided. Several said before they left that they would never again return to England to play golf.

Gerald Patterson, who won the Wimbledon tennis championship last year, declared, after the tournament, that he would never go back, because of the treatment he said he suffered.

There must be some good reason for the change of sentiment. It is certainly not in retaliation for treatment of British athletes visiting the United States, though the number of these is small.

Some believe it may be prompted by resentment against the increasingly frequent successful invasion of England by American stars. Jack Hutchinson and Walter Hagen captured the open title two years. Before that, it was considered exclusively British. Americans won the Walker cup again this year.

At any rate the team from the United States cannot be accused of making these statements because of its comparatively poor showing. The thing reached such a stage that London sport writers are commenting upon it.

More and more Olympic material is bobbing up all the time. Boots Lever, star sprinter of Pennsylvania, ran the 60 yards recently in 6 4-5 seconds and then stepped 70 yards in 7 5-10 seconds for a new world record in both.

In Chicago, Walter Brookins ran the 220 low hurdles in 23 6-10 seconds for a new world mark. D. Hubbard of Michigan jumped 25 feet and 2 inches—just an inch less than the record.

Bob Shawkey is being hailed as the most valuable pitcher the New York Yankees ever had. He came to them in 1915, and in nine seasons since that time has won 124 games, losing only 88. The Yanks got him for a waiver price.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE COMFORT MAN
(S. G. M.)

I like to have the Comfort Man
Drop in on me whene'er he can.

Some way my troubles all fly out
When he comes in and sits about.

And never once to me he's shown
He had a trouble of his own.

He never stays too long or brings
A flavor of unpleasant things.

And how so fretful be the day
He steals my frettings all away

From out my dreams he pulls the weeds
And seems to plant me flower seeds.

And how he does it I can't say,
Just in his own and friendly way.

As when you put a modest vase
With fragrant flowers in some dull place.

So he shows me, when frets are rife,
How much of beauty is in life.

And when he goes he leaves the rare
Sweet fragrance of his presence there.

As flowers carried through a room
Leave us a lingering perfume.

I'm glad he comes whene'er he can,
For oft I need the Comfort Man.

SONS OF AMERICA TO HOLD DIAMOND JUBILEE

PHILADELPHIA, July 10 (United Press).—Several thousand delegates and visitors from every part of the United States are expected to attend the Diamond Jubilee of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, to be held here August 26 to September 1.

The celebration will open with the dedication of a Betsy Ross memorial monument and will close with a pageant and parade.

During Jubilee week, several conventions of the organization will be held. The commandery general will meet on August 27; the national camp on August 30 and 31; Rough Riders on August 30; Jersey state camp on August 28 and 29, and the Pennsylvania state camp on August 30 and 31.

Prizes totaling $3,000 will be awarded marchers in the pageant that will end the celebration of the 75th anniversary of the P. O. S. A.

What would happen if the Lord were to follow all the advice that is handed to Him in prayers?

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10 (United Press).—Coast tennis circles and experts are eagerly discussing championship possibilities for Pacific coast men and women as the result of the recent Pacific coast title contests at Berkeley and Los Angeles, in which the outstanding features were the playing of Helen Wills, who won the women's singles for the coast, and the Kinsey brothers, who won the doubles.

Helen Wills, 17, an expert in tennis already is felt to be the coming star of the courts. Players are already prophesying she will be the next national champion and are looking to Helen to bring home the crown Molla Mallory wears. Miss Wills has just gone east and will play in many matches there this summer.

Other coast players going east to play this summer include the Kinseys, Peck Griffin, Phil Neer, Dave Conrado, Gerald Stratford and James Davies.

SUMMER LIBRARY OF COLUMBUS SCHOOL GROWS

Permanent Institution for Children Is Now Practical ertainty

The children's summer library established and fostered by the P.-T. A. of the Columbus avenue school, has grown to such proportions that a permanent children's library is now practically a certainty.

On the hours that the little colony is open children eagerly fill the room to wait for another story.

All contributions of children's books will be most gratefully received and telephone calls to Glendale 2685W will secure someone to call for donations.

There are now 250 books in the library. Search your shelves for "outgrown" books.

PORTUGAL STOPS GAMBLING

LISBON, July 10 (Associated Press).—All public gambling halls in Portugal have been ordered closed, and a wave of indignation has swept the larger cities as a result. Several newspapers have taken up the protest, claiming that where gambling formerly was supervised and forced to yield an income to the treasury, it has now been driven to cover, and is flourishing as never before.

One newspaper alleges that loaded dice, marked cards and other trick devices have been substituted for equipment which, under the gambling regulations, was inspected by the police, and that the public has sustained tremendous losses as a result.
